

www.bizjournals.com – This is the website for the Business Times. Select the city of your choice to see some articles. Most content including lists is available only to subscribers.

www.careerbliss.com – Search hundreds of thousands of company reviews on this site.

www.jobstar.org – This site maintained by the library guides you through company research.. Choose “Hidden Job Market” from the Homepage and then “Researching Companies”

www.vault.com Newsletter, job alerts are free. Membership at $9.99 a month includes employee survey data, company reviews and industry and profession profiles.

www.forbes.com – Forbes provides many services including a listing of America’s largest private companies and the largest global companies. Go to www.forbes.com/lists

www.cnn.com/business – This is the Internet face for CNN. Select “Business” from the logo at the top of the home page for links to business articles.

www.glassdoor.com – Select “Companies” and see anonymous employee reviews, salaries and more for over 250,000 companies. Those who use the website are encouraged to sign in with Facebook to see who their friends know at any company. To get unlimited access, it is necessary to post a review. Further details about usage are on the website.

www.hoovers.com – Hoovers provides a thumbnail sketch of thousands of companies for a free trial. They do charge for more detailed reports.

www.sec.gov/edgar.shtml - All companies, foreign and domestic are required to file registration statements, periodic reports, and other forms electrically through EDGAR at the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Anyone can access and download this information.

www.crunchbase.com – This site provides business intelligence with a special focus on innovative companies. Sign up with an email to receive the Crunchbase Daily

www.linkedin.com – Create a profile on LinkedIn. Go to “Jobs” section and type the names of companies that interest you in the search box. Premium service may unlock more features.

www.ccclib.org or www.aclib.org Contra Costa & Alameda Public Libraries are the access point for the Virtual Reference Library. A library card number is needed to access the various databases including the “Encyclopedia of Business and Finance”. Libraries in other locations offer similar services.

The library at Stanford Graduate School of Business has compiled a list of company research websites. The website below will get you there:

<https://www.gsb.stanford.edu/library/conduct-research/business-websites/company-research>